...EVERGREEN MOVES TO CONSERVE FUEL...A series of energy conservation measures --- some effective immediately, others during the break between Fall and Winter Quarters --- will be implemented at Evergreen to assure that operations are not interrupted during the winter fuel supply crisis, according to Administrative Vice President Dean Clabaugh.

Essentially, the actions involve earlier closures of buildings during the winter, complete closure of some facilities during the Fall/Winter Quarter break, and closure of the college swimming pool until January 2 and, perhaps, beyond. "The actions being taken are geared to lessen utilization of our heating fuels --- natural gas and oil --- during the winter months so that closure of college operations and any consequent loss of employee work times does not become necessary, even for brief periods of time," Clabaugh said.

Immediate actions include closure of the college swimming pool until at least January 2; early week day closure --- at 5:30 p.m. and complete week end closure --- of the Lecture Halls Building and large sections of the Laboratory and Library Buildings; shutting off of heat to the Activities and Recreation Buildings during evening hours; and curtailment of operating hours of the CAB.

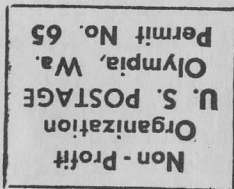

In addition, during the quarter break (December 14 to January 2) the college will completely close the Recreation Center, Lecture Halls Building, and the instructional sections of the Laboratory Building; shorten operating hours in the Library and Activities Buildings; and heat only those on-campus housing units occupied by students during the holiday break.

...FILMMAKERS WIN NATIONAL AWARD...A national film award has been presented to two Evergreen students for a five-minute movie they completed a year ago. Bellevueites Richard Speers and Frankie Foster received a CINE Eagle award from the Council on International Non-Theatrical Events, a voluntary, non-profit organization which selects films produced in the United States for entry in world competition.

...HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR TAKES TOP TURKEY...Graham Dornan, an Olympia High School junior, sped to the fastest time in the second annual Evergreen Turkey Trot November 17. The thinclad came in ahead of all competition in 14:43 minutes for the three-mile race --- and took home a 13-lb. turkey as winner of the community men's division.

...STUDENTS VOLUNTEER SERVICES...More than 40 Evergreen students are currently volunteering their time and talents to two key social service agencies in the Olympia area, the Union Street Center and the Thurston County Crisis Clinic. Seventeen Evergreeners assist in a wide variety of tasks at the Union Street Center, formerly the Third Eye. Activities include helping youngsters improve communication skills, maintaining the facilities and offering paraprofessional counseling. Several students work shifts at the drop-in center; many accompany teenagers on all-day or over-night recreational trips and others answer phones. More than 20 students work four-to-eight hour shifts each week in the Crisis Clinic, a telephone crisis intervention service.

...EVERGREENER CONDUCTING DRUG RESEARCH...Rhonda Martin, a second-year Evergreener, has been named research analyst for the Outpatient Treatment Task Force of the State Office of Drug Abuse Prevention. Mrs. Martin, a St. Placid High School graduate, will help the task force prepare data for Washington State's master plan on drug abuse, which must be completed by the end of the year if the state is to secure federal fundings for its drug abuse programs.
