...800 THURSTON AND MASON COUNTY SENIORS TO VISIT TESC NOV. 15...More than 800 high school students from throughout Thurston and Mason Counties have been invited to participate in the annual High School/College Conference at Evergreen Nov. 15, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Students from North Thurston, Timberline, Olympia, Tumwater, Shelton, Yelm, St. Placids and Mary Knight High Schools will attend three sessions to hear representatives from 13 four-year colleges, three two-year community colleges and two vocational-technical institutes.

Evergreen's Admissions Office is hosting the annual event, which is conducted by the Washington Council on High School/College Relations. The state-wide program is designed to serve the needs of high school students by providing them with information essential to planning their post-high school academic programs.

...AWARENESS WORKSHOP TO EXAMINE ALL ASPECTS OF RAPE...A concerted effort to raise the level of consciousness about the problems of rape will be made during a four-day workshop to be held at Evergreen Nov. 18-21. Campus Police Assistant Ann Brown, an organizer of the workshop, said she hopes the presentation --- which will include speeches, demonstrations of martial arts, films and panel discussions --- will increase everyone's awareness of the problems of rape.

"It's been said that the problem of rape will not be resolved until men and women both have become more aware of its causes and effects," Brown said. "We're hoping to provide an opportunity for everyone to examine all aspects of rape --- medical, moral, ethical, legal and psychological --- and to spark the kind of dialogue that will help all of us better understand the problem, both as individuals and as members of this community."

The workshop will begin at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 18 with a multi-image presentation on "Myth and Stereotype of Rape." Psychologist Maureen Saylor of the Western Washington State Hospital Sexual Psychopath Program will discuss the problem of rape at 1:15 p.m. And, the movie, "No Lies," will examine communications problems which surround such sexual crimes. All movies will be shown in Lecture Halls Building; other presentations will be staged in the main Library lobby. Tuesdays' program includes a martial arts demonstration and discussion of physical and mental defenses, another film and a noon panel discussion on "The Ethical Implications of Rape." More films and discussions are on tape for Wednesday and Thursday. For a complete schedule of the events, call the Evergreen Information Center (866-6300) or Office of Security (866-6140).

...SMITH NAMED TO EDUCATIONAL REVIEW PANEL...Bill Smith, Director of Financial Aid at Evergreen, has been named to the Region Ten Office of Education Review Panel, which reviews applications from all post-secondary institutions in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Alaska which request federal student aid funds. The panel will review applications in Seattle for one week and then send recommendations on to the Washington, D.C. Office of Education for final determination.

...REPRESENTATIVES FROM NINE GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES TO TALK TO SENIORS...Representatives from city, county, state and federal governmental agencies will be on campus Nov. 13 to kick off the first in a series of eight Job Information Days sponsored by the Evergreen Placement Office. The all day event, which is aimed primarily at providing Evergreen seniors with relevant and useful career information, will include presentations by governmental representatives, application procedures, question/answer sessions, and a series of 15-minute mock interviews.

Representatives from business and industry have been invited to participate in the second Job Information Day scheduled for December 4, according to Gail Martin, Evergreen Placement Coordinator.

...CLASSICAL GUITARIST SLATES NOV. 14 CONCERT...Classical guitarist Jeffrey Van will perform in concert at Evergreen Nov. 14 at 8 p.m. in Lecture Hall One. ...MUSHROOM HUNTERS WORKSHOP OFFERED NOV. 16...A one-day workshop, "All About Mushrooms," will be conducted by Dr. and Mrs. Alan Much at Evergreen Nov. 16 beginning at 9 a.m. in room 202 of the College Recreation Center. Practical techniques in how to find, collect and identify wild mushrooms will be discussed by the couple, who are currently conducting field research on mushrooms in the Olympia area. Color slides of mushrooms in their natural habitat will be shown, including those of many species that can be found locally.

"The Olympia area abounds with a wide variety of eminently edible mushrooms," Dr. Much says. "But, deadly species are also present." He regards mushrooms as an important food product because, he says, they are high in nutritional value, low in calories and "very delicious."

Tuition for the one-day workshop is $15 and participation from the community is encouraged. Interested persons can register with the CRC Office by calling 866-6530.
