Introductory

If you're like a lot of other people, you'd like to start — or perhaps resume — college-level academic work either to complete bachelor's degree requirements or to earn credits which will improve your chances for job promotion and career advancement. Maybe you'd just like to broaden your personal horizons.

You have your own set of career and personal academic needs. Perhaps you need help with such communications skills as writing and reading. You may need to undertake business or management studies. You may want to study more general areas such as political science, history, literature, or anthropology. And your goal may include an integration of these kinds of studies. In any case, you need a program of study that you can tailor to your own situation, giving you maximum flexibility in planning and carrying out your college academic work.

Like a lot of other people, time is a problem for you. You just can't drop everything to go to college, particularly during the daytime, perhaps anytime during regular weekdays. If you're a working parent and you're single you have another problem.

So, going to college may be a good idea, but . . .

The Evergreen State College may have some answers for you. Read this brochure and see whether we can help satisfy some of your academic needs while paying attention to problems that previously may have kept you away from the collegiate classroom.

General

The intent of this brochure is to quickly introduce you — in general terms — to the specific part-time academic program opportunities being offered at Evergreen during 1975-76 in the broad areas of natural sciences and mathematics, social sciences and humanities and arts. Brief program descriptions are included. Detailed information about program content and assignments, as well as information about class locations — may be obtained after September 15 from the faculty members listed with the program descriptions. If you have questions about admissions procedures call the Office of Admissions (866-6170). Information about academic planning may be obtained from the Office of Academic Advising (866-6312). They'll be happy to explain enrollment procedures to you and advise you about how a given program may best match up with your personal academic needs. Part-time students who need further clarification of the ways in which participation in Evergreen programs may lead to a bachelor's degree can receive advice and counseling from the Offices of Academic Advising, Admissions, or Placement (866-6193).

SOME BASIC INFORMATION

Spring, 1976: March 29 - June 11.
ACADEMIC CREDIT — Awarded by Evergreen unit, each one roughly equivalent to four quarter hours of academic work. (NOTE: Most part-time students take one unit at a time; some take two per quarter but the academic load is greater.)

EVALUATION — By written faculty narrative of individual student’s work.

STUDENT CATEGORIES (part-time status) —

Part-Time, Degree-Seeking: Student enrolled for credit through continuing limited (1 - 2 units) academic work leading to a bachelor’s degree. Receives regular college evaluation.

Special: Student enrolled for credit through continuing limited (usually one unit) academic work not necessarily leading to a degree. Receives regular college evaluation and may subsequently apply for admission to degree-seeking status, with previous work credited toward the degree.

Auditor: Student participates in academic program but not for credit. Receives no evaluation and no credit advanced towards a degree in the event of later admission to the college.

STUDENT CLASSIFICATION —

Resident: Person who has had a domicile for other than educational proposes in the State of Washington for one year immediately prior to the first day of a quarter; a dependent son, daughter, or spouse of a federal employee residing within the State; or a dependent son, daughter, or spouse of a College employee.

Non-Resident: Those who do not fit the “residence” definition.

REGISTRATION

Most persons starting part-time studies at Evergreen enroll as “Special” students (described earlier). This allows registration without making formal application, supplying transcripts, etc. Credit earned is applicable to the degree (though regular admission will be required later).

The Schedule:

Monday, September 15: Open House — Faculty will be available to discuss offerings in this publication. Registration may be completed at this time.

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, September 16, 17, 18: 6 - 8 p.m. Registration

Saturday, September 20: 9 a.m. to noon Registration

Monday - Thursday, September 29 - October 2: 6 - 8 p.m. Classes begin; Registration continues.

CHILD CARE — Child Care services will be available on campus at a nominal cost. Tentative plans call for accepting children between the ages of two and eight. Part of the admissions process for part-time students will feature a questionnaire on child care needs.

SPECIAL CLASS LOCATIONS — Depending on needs expressed by part-time students, the college may offer a very limited number of Modular Courses in off-campus locations. You should expect most programs to be scheduled at Evergreen, however. If other arrangements are made for a given program, enrolled students will be so notified.

BUS TRANSPORTATION — The Evergreen campus is served by the Inter-City Transit System (schedules available from ITS, 753-8325) and, during the regular academic year, a college-operated evening bus. The Evergreen bus operates between 6 p.m. and midnight Monday through Friday, making runs to and from the main campus parking lot along a route through Westside Olympia, downtown, and east to the Martin Way-Slater Kinney Road intersection. Fare on the evening bus is 10 cents one-way. Further information and schedules may be obtained by telephoning Evergreen’s Office of Campus Activities (866-6210).
SOME DEFINITIONS

Evergreen offers credit for part-time students in three basic ways:

1. Coordinated Studies — Team-taught programs which examine major problems or themes from the perspective of various academic subjects. These programs operate at both beginning and advanced levels. Part-time students may arrange to participate in a portion of a Coordinated Studies program for academic credit.

2. Group and Individual Contracted Studies — Group studies in this category involve the intensive examination of more specific subjects such as economics, arts, marine biology, and sociology to name but a few. Groups include from 15 - 20 students working with a single faculty member. Again, part-time study opportunities exist in some of these programs, with students taking less than a full academic load to earn credit.

Individual Contracts — where single students work one-to-one with faculty sponsors on a specific academic assignment — normally involve advanced, full-time students. However, some part-time students may be able to negotiate these kinds of individual programs by making special arrangements with faculty members.

3. Modular Courses — Studies focusing on specific study areas. Meetings of these programs are restricted to late afternoons and evenings and most are designed to meet the needs of part-time students.

Academic Programs

MODULAR COURSES — open to all part-time students.

From Homer to Hemingway
Pete Sinclair / Andrew Hanfman (866-6738 / 866-6632)
Tuesday / Wednesday 3:30 p.m.
Study of the classic works of Western literature. Two lectures per week, plus extensive reading assignments. Module students will be interviewed by faculty to determine their understanding of the readings and lectures.

From Yao to Mao: Chinese History in a Teacup:
Lynn Struve (866-6661)
Tuesday / Thursday 7:30 - 9 p.m.
Are Lao-Tzu and Mao Tse-tung the only Chinese names you know, besides Fu Manchu and Charlie Chan? Do the dynastic names T'ang-Sung-Ming-Ch'ing sound like a 1930's Hollywood caricature of "sing-song Chinaman?" Do you think that China changed only once, from old to new in 1949; or beginning with the impact of the West in the nineteenth century? In view of the fact that, among nationalities, far more people have been Chinese than anything else, don't you feel a gap in your knowledge? This module will help you begin to plug that gap by providing a general overview of major developments in Chinese history and culture from the legendary sage emperors of antiquity down to the Cultural Revolution.

Life Drawing:
Marilyn Frasca (866-6418)
Wednesday 7:00 - 10 p.m.
A weekly three hour studio session of drawing from live models. Students will be encouraged to work with a variety of media: pencil, charcoal, paint, clay. Beginning with short, fast poses, we will gradually work up to full three hour sessions on one drawing, one work.

The Play and Place of Poetry:
David Powell (866-6040)
Tuesday 7:00 p.m.
A series of evening lecture-type responses to recognized classic English poetry from the time of Shakespeare to the 20th Century. By dealing in depth with a single poem in each session, the lecturer will utilize and illustrate various techniques for the valid interpretation and understanding of poetry. Among those poets covered in lectures or in outside reading will be: Shakespeare (sonnets), John Donne, William Blake, John Keats, Christina Rossetti, Alfred Lord Tennyson, Emily Dickinson, W.B. Yeats, Wallace Stevens, T.S. Eliot, Marianne Moore and selected moderns.

Perspectives on Craftsmanship:
James Gulden (866-6734)
Monday 7:00 p.m.
This overview of craftsmanship will be a crucial component of the group contracts in crafts. An effort will be made through readings, discussion groups and a lecture series to present the rich and diverse background material necessary to understand craftsmanship in perspective. The following list of topics represents the Coordinated Studies

NOTE: Almost all academic work in Evergreen's Coordinated Studies programs occurs during daytime hours. If your schedule requires that you attend evening classes, you should look first at Modules, described earlier in this brochure. Several Coordinated Studies, described below, have limited openings for part-time students. If any of these interest you, please telephone the indicated faculty member or his/her secretary, the Office of Admissions (866-6170), or Academic Advising (866-6312). Calls to faculty should be made after September 15.

PART-TIME COORDINATED STUDIES OPPORTUNITIES:

Africa and the United States (Basic Level)
Dumi Maraire (866-6075)
Program will take a maximum of ten students for one credit through participation in workshops, weekly special interest classes or by attending a lecture and film series to be held at least three times per week. Outside reading required. Students in this program will thoroughly examine the historical and current background determining the present state of the relationships between the nations of Africa and the United States. Areas of study include slave trade, religion, military bases, education, industrial development, missionary work, uses of foreign aid, Black America and Africa, the problems of South Africa and Rhodesia. The program will be structured into five topical segments: Africa Before the Coming of Western Influence, The Invasion of Africa by the West, African Black Awareness, Black Awareness and Revolution in America, and Africa Today.

Working in America (Basic Level)
Tom Rainey (866-6597)
This program will accept ten part-time students on an interview basis. Part-time students will be expected to attend all general program functions, read the five books for Fall Quarter, and attend tutorials or seminars. The program, while introducing students to aspects of both the humanities and social sciences, will help them intelligently evaluate their working futures through readings, writings, seminars, films, lectures, and individual projects. Specific topics of study will include Labor History, Conditions of Working People 1975 - 76, Composition of the Work Force, and Power Structure Analysis.

Health: Individual and Community (Basic Level)
Linda Kahan (866-6728)
Part-time participation might be difficult, but the faculty coordinator may be able to negotiate some openings on an individual basis. This program will examine human health from the perspectives of both individual and community — biologically, psychologically, socially. The program is designed to meet the needs of students interested in fields related to health — psychology, sociology, community planning, recreation, health politics, environmental science, social work, biological sciences, and medicine. Lectures, seminars, films, readings, labs, field trips.

Ethics and Politics (Basic Level)
Carolyn Dobbs (866-6032)
Part-time students should contact the faculty sponsor to arrange details of proposed studies. Part-time work for one unit of credit could include either or both of the following: (1) attending seminars dealing with fiction concerning politics and ethics; (2) attending lectures on ethics and participating in weekly writing exer-vides to develop the skills of critical analysis in a philosophical sense. The program involves studies of individual ethics through social ethics to political action by analyzing historical ethical systems and current political issues. Students will observe and participate in political institutions at local and state levels, with particular emphasis on environmental and consumer protection, land use, and open government.

The American Revolution
Stephanie Coontz (866-6623)
Will accept ten part-time students whose work will consist of attending a lecture series and reading program books, for one unit of credit. The program will investigate the American Revolution from the perspective of this Bicentennial year, studying the causes, cause and consequences of the Revolution, as well as its role in an international context and the new political and social order codified in the Constitution. Intensive reading of history, philosophy, literature, and documents of the Revolutionary period, along with general theoretical studies.

The Good Earth (Basic Level)
Neil Skov (866-6678)
Opportunities for six part-time students, who will be required to attend program lectures and write papers. Program activities will focus on small-scale farming, combining practical work with readings and laboratory work in diverse subjects. Academic studies will range from a historical review of agriculture to the economics of a farm unit to biological-chemical pest control, plant pathology, and parasitology — all related to practical projects centering on use of land for food production.

Self-Exploration Through Autobiography (Basic Level)
Thad Curtz (866-6638)
Part-time students required to complete 15 pages of writing per week and attend one meeting per week. Program students will read autobiographies each week and, in the process, begin writing ones on themselves to develop an understanding of their past and the influences on the individual of parents, customs, race, locale, religion, and culture. The program will feature intensive reading and writing, lectures, guest speakers, book seminars, and workshops.

Group Contracts

NOTE: Almost all academic work in Evergreen’s Group Contracted Studies Programs occurs during daytime hours. If your schedule requires that you attend evening classes, you should look first at Modules, described earlier in this brochure. Several Group Contracts, described below, have limited openings for part-time students. If any of these interest you, please telephone the indicated faculty member or his/her secretary, the Office of Admissions (866-6170), or Academic Advising (866-6312). Calls to faculty should be made after September 15.

PART-TIME GROUP CONTRACTED STUDIES OPPORTUNITIES:

Introduction to Microbiology (Fall Quarter)
Burton Guttman (866-6715)
Faculty sponsor will discuss part-time work with interested persons to see what kinds of arrangements can be made for attending morning seminars and doing afternoon laboratory work. Mature students — able to work on their own and undertake reading assignments in addition to seminars and lab work. The program involves a survey of traditional topics in microbiology for intermediate-to-advanced students who are interested in the general fields of microbiology, molecular/cellular biology, and biochemistry.

A Cultural and Social History of Art and Architecture in Greece, Rome, Medieval and Renaissance Europe
Mervyn Cadwallader (866-6098)
Openings for six part-time students, who may earn one credit by completing the program readings and writing a paper on the history of art and architecture from Ancient Greece to the Renaissance. The program is an art history inquiry into the roots and causes of the rise and fall of three great civilizations — Hellenic Greece, Republican Rome, and Medieval Europe — by examining the lives and works of their most creative individuals and the reasons for the failure of creative elan in the societies and their artists. Fall Quarter — Greece and Rome. Winter Quarter — Medieval Europe. Spring Quarter — Renaissance and Baroque Europe.

Economic Cycles
Russ Lidman (866-6601)
Openings for one or two students on individual contracted study basis for two credits in literature or economics. Sponsor prefers prospective students have backgrounds in one of the two academic areas mentioned. Thrust of the total program is the teaching of macroeconomics. Students will learn how an economy functions, how problems such as unemployment and inflation can arise, what governments can do about these problems, and why governmental policies can fail. Studies will focus on the Great Depression of the 1930's and on today’s economic problems.

Social History of Women
Nancy Taylor (866-6097)
Openings for about five part-time students who could attend seminars, tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings. The program will study women from various historical eras and from all aspects of life: rich and poor, educated and illiterate, radical and conservative. In addition to extensive readings, the group will concentrate on writing and research techniques. By the end of the program, the group should have completed an annotated bibliography on women to present to the Evergreen Library, as well as 20 biographies which could supplement future programs.
A Final Note...

To those students wishing to undertake part-time studies at Evergreen to begin or complete work on a bachelor's degree:

We realize you may need both help and information as you try to arrange a sequence of studies — perhaps unit-by-unit — that will best serve your individual purposes. Those just beginning college or a person who began undergraduate work several years ago and, for any number of reasons, has been forced to interrupt their studies. Here are some ways in which we think we can assist you:

Academic Advising/Planning — If you need information about how things work academically at Evergreen or want current information on curriculum offerings, please call the Coordinator of Academic Information (866-6312). She can be most helpful to you as you decide your course of study.

Admissions Counseling — How do you enroll at Evergreen? What kinds of information does the college need to get you enrolled? How does the college operate for the part-time student? These and many other kinds of "policies, procedures and programs" questions can be answered in the Office of Admissions. Just dial 866-6170 and ask for an Admissions Counselor.

Career Exploration and Placement — Part-time students needing information about career exploration and career planning (for instance, how would a given set of studies relate to a specific career field already being pursued by the student?), coupled with career identification and eventual placement or advancement, should telephone Evergreen's Placement Office (866-6193) and talk to either Gail Martin or Michelle Hayes. They have a lot of information and resources at their fingertips and are happy to help you.

Internship Possibilities — Many Evergreen students, particularly those at advanced levels, combine regular academic studies with practical work experiences, for which they receive academic credit. To receive credit, students must be enrolled in either a Coordinated or Contracted Studies program. Thus, most internships are pursued by full-time students. To see how you as a part-time student might participate — now or as you pursue your studies later — telephone Evergreen's Office of Cooperative Education (866-6391) and ask for either Ken Donohue or Dan Swecker.

Finally, some paths others at Evergreen have taken toward the bachelor's degree. Even though these are full-time students, the ways in which they arranged their academic experiences are illustrative of how you can do the same...just at a slower pace.

Other Evergreen graduates have found a wide range of jobs in Administration and Management, Communications, Human Services, Education, Environmental Planning, Law and Justice, Business, Government and as entry-level employees in various other professions. Some have started their own businesses and many others have entered graduate or professional schools throughout the country. Because Evergreen's programs are unusually flexible and keyed to the needs of individuals, you, too, may find many opportunities to tailor the kind of academic program that will best fit your career and personal plans. Just call on us. We're happy to work with you and help you chart a course leading to a college degree even though you can't work on it full-time.

Human Rights Policy

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY POLICY AND AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PROGRAM

The Equal Opportunity Policy of The Evergreen State College requires that its faculty, administration, staff, students, and persons who develop programs at the college; and all contractors, individuals and organizations who do business with the college; comply with the letter and spirit of all federal, state, and local equal employment opportunity statutes and regulations.

The college expressly prohibits discrimination against any person on the basis of race, sex, age, religion, national origin, or physical disability (except where physical disability is a bona fide occupational qualification). All decisions on employment and promotion must utilize only valid job-related requirements.

The college requires: that all personnel actions such as compensation, benefits, transfers, layoffs, return from layoff, college sponsored training, education, tuition assistance, social and recreation programs, and that all student recruiting and admissions, student services (such as financial aid, placement, counseling, housing, student activities, physical recreation), and facilities usage, be administered without discrimination based on race, sex, age, religion, national origin, or physical disability (except where physical disability is a bona fide occupational qualification).

The Evergreen State College is committed to an affirmative action program — a goal-oriented program through which it makes specific additional efforts to recruit, hire, train, and promote non-whites and women; and to recruit, admit, and educate non-white and women students. The affirmative action program is designed to overcome and prevent the effects of systemic institutional discrimination and benign neutrality in employment and educational practices. The college will take affirmative action to solicit bids on goods and services contracts from non-white and women vendors and contractors.

The college's Affirmative Action Office has responsibility for preparing the college's affirmative action program, including procedures for reporting and monitoring.

Each employee's support and implementation of this policy will be evaluated during employee performance evaluations.
