

CAE Multi-media Performance Self-evaluation Guidelines:

- 1) Each member of your group, individually, should reflect and write a short (about a page) piece on the performance. Each of you should consider how you conceptualized the piece as a group and what ideas you yourself contributed to that. Think about what aspects of the text you focused on and why. Reflect on how you worked as a collaborative team to realize the piece and what your own role(s) were in that. Finally, think about what aspects of the performance worked well and what ones could've used improvement. Write at least a paragraph each on the strengths and weaknesses. How did your audience respond to what you were doing? In what ways do you think you communicated your ideas clearly and if you had a chance to do it again, what would you change? Why?
- 2) Email your response to everyone in your group. Do not meet until everyone has a copy of everyone else's response. Meet to read pieces to each other and discuss the performance as a group. Out of that conversation, edit the pieces into one document. You can preserve the voices of each person if you like, or combine them and write as one voice. This may end up being longer than a page, and that is fine!