

Community Service Contract
Religion and Society
Stephen Beck/Suzanne Simons, faculty
The Evergreen State College
Winter 2010

Each student enrolled in Religion and Society is required to do 2-4 hours of community service a week during winter quarter with a local faith community that they are not affiliated with. Students are expected to initiate contact with a faith community they are interested in working with and researching, and to meet with a representative from that faith community willing to be a field supervisor through March 6. The contract below needs to be signed by both the student and field supervisor and returned to your seminar faculty by Wednesday, January 20.

Field supervisors will be responsible for assigning work to the student, and assessing their progress in a phone conversation with faculty toward the end of the quarter in early March.

To field supervisors, we thank you for providing an opportunity both for students to contribute to the good work your faith community is doing and to learn about your local faith community. If you have questions about the class, feel free to contact Stephen Beck at 867-5488 or Suzanne Simons at 867-6710.
